

The Honolulu Marathon

The Honolulu Marathon. Third-largest marathon in the world. 30,000 runners in a single year. Over $100,000 paid to leading racers. The crowning reward of amateur joggers yearly calendars. An estimated $100,000,000-boost for the local economy. Mega-corporate sponsorship. Big Business. Big Money. But it didn't start out that way. In The Honolulu Marathon, Mark Osmun, who covered the event in the 1970s for the Honolulu Advertiser, recounts the origins of this amazing event and motivations of the people who made it happen. From recording the promotional showmanship of the zealous Dr. Jack Scaff, to the kidnapping of world-class runners, to joining in the race itself, Osmun became the principal chronicler of the marathonian event that became the bellwether for the nation's subsequent Running Boom. Originally published in 1979, and told in the fast-paced style of New Journalism, The Honolulu Marathon placed the event on the international stage and now gives us perspective on the colossus it has become. Now with new material and a preface by the author, The Honolulu Marathon is a must-read for everyone who has or will run the race.
