

Leaving the City: Episode 1 (Post Apocalyptic Romance Adventure Mutants Ghouls Wasteland)

Kat knew Alex hated the vault. She knew he had to get out. The vault was built to protect everyone until the bombs stopped falling, but they never did. Not until it was too late. Now the only life left in the world, for all they knew, was underground in this steel fortress. Alex always said he would rather escape and see if anything was left in the wastelands than to live the rest of his life imprisoned in the vault. Whatever was out there had to be better than this cage. Could anyone even survive out in the wastelands? They had never seen how things were before the war. The older generations would sometimes talk about it. They had to be secretive, however, because the council had banned any discussion on the topic. No one was entirely sure why it happened anymore. That was the worst part. A paradise gone, and no memory of why. That made Alex desperately want to find answers. Kat knew the only way would be to leave the city together. Leaving the City is a post-apocalyptic, action romance series about a young couple struggling to survive in a world destroyed by the hate of the generations before them.
