

Essentials of Argument (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Essentials of Argument
A down-east farmer whose given name was Aminadab was wont to tell his friends that he was the tenth son of his parents, and that all the good names had been used up when they got down to him. We are not apologizing for the title of this book, but certain it is that the number of books written on this subject is legion. It is true that some of these come to our attention at the present time merely as curiosities, but many have survived and are popular on account of admirable qualities. Why, then, should there be a new text-book? It may be that the controlling reason is the desire which comes to every teacher to put his particular theories into print. Yet the authors of this work believe that their book has another reason for existence. If we thought that we had some peculiar hobbies or novel methods of instruction, it would indeed be doubtful if anything was being added to the literature of the subject. In fact the criticism that we find, as teachers, of the text-books which have been offered to us is that they seem to attempt to produce something new in the way of teaching argumentation. We believe that it is extremely improbable that anyone in this twentieth century will discover new principles of dealing with this subject, the teaching of which was an old story long before the Christian era.
